

Moving from one state to another is a challenge for families who have a child with a chronic medical condition or disability. It requires transferring benefits to another state, establishing medical care, applying for Medicaid, transferring to new schools and understanding how the system of care works. State benefit programs vary, and states administer federal programs at the local level making it even more complex.

Our Care Consultants Can Help

Our team of care consultants can help your family with the transition. Here are some useful ways we can help you:

- Understand the Vermont state system of care and the local resources in the community you will be moving to.
- Help you connect with a PCP, specialty care, school teams and other services before you move to Vermont
- Organize meetings before you move so you can plan with your new team
- Help you navigate insurance options for your child including Medicaid
- Ensure you are connected to your team and appropriate services once you move to Vermont.
