

How to Apply for a Delayed Certificate of Birth

February 2026

The Request for Delayed Certificate of Birth and Statement of Information to Appear on Delayed Certificate of Birth are used to record a birth that occurred in Vermont and was never filed with the town of birth. If you need help accessing or understanding this information, contact VitalRecords@vermont.gov.

Instructions

1. Complete the Request for Delayed Certificate of Birth and Statement of Information to Appear on Delayed Certificate of Birth.
2. Take the forms to a notary public and sign your current legal name in the notary public's presence.
3. Gather supporting original or certified documents that prove age, birthplace and parental information:

For a person age 10 years or over, three certified or original documents are required to support the delayed certificate request in Vermont. Each document must show the person's date of birth or age and must have been created at least 10 years prior to the date of the delayed certificate request, or within 3 years of the date of birth. At least one document must show the person's birthplace as Vermont and one document must include the name of at least one parent. Refer to the list of primary documents on the next page. Documents are subject to examination and approval by the State Registrar.

For a person under 10 years of age, two certified or original documents are required to support the delayed certificate request in Vermont. The first document must show that the mother was in Vermont at the time of birth. The second document must show the child's name, date of birth, birthplace as Vermont and the name of at least one parent. Refer to the list of primary documents on the next page. Documents are subject to examination and approval by the State Registrar.

4. Submit the following forms and supporting documents to the Vital Records Office at the Vermont Department of Health:
 - Completed and notarized Request for Delayed Certificate of Birth
 - Completed and notarized Statement of Information to Appear on Delayed Certificate of Birth, and
 - Supporting original or certified documents that prove age, birthplace and parental information.

Why do I need to send in proof to file or a Delayed Certificate of Birth?

A birth certificate is a valuable document proving United States citizenship and age. A Delayed Certificate of Birth is only as valuable as the documents used to prove the facts of birth. This is why specific supporting documents are required. The documents must be original or certified and not altered, so that your delayed birth certificate is accurate.
